

Evangelism Lesson #3

Your audience: The LOST, those outside of Christ

Why continue the campaign series with this lesson in series: You have already shown the fearful reason to examine more closely Jesus, you next have shown what places people there, now show the escape: The Gospel of Christ

Whether you use these illustrations or your own, whether you chose to include personal applications or not, please be sure to emphasize those points indicated with the faces (☺ or ☹).

What must I do to be saved?

I. Introduction:

A. Have you noticed there are many churches filled with wonderful people, but we all teach different things?

B. I have thought, “How can I know what is truth?”

C. I got to thinking.

1. In other arenas of life, there are “Life and Death” (L &Ds) situations.

2. For example, it is in the middle of the night. You are awakened by someone knocking on your door and yelling, “Get out of the house! It’s on fire!”

3. That is a “Life and Death” statement.

4. You don’t need an interpreter; you would know immediately what it means, and you act on it!

D. So it must be with the Bible.

1. I believe the Bible is the Word of God, don’t you?

2. And the Bible speaks of their being a Heaven and a Hell, doesn’t it?

3. Isn’t that a “Life and Death” situation?

4. Don’t you suppose, therefore, the Bible makes some clear “Life and Death” statements, where you do not need an interpreter? You would know immediately what it means? And you would know how to act on it?

E. May I challenge your own study of the Bible?

1. Any time you read the words of Jesus or, beginning in Acts, the New Testament, and you come across a verse that has a “Life or Death” word in it (like “life,” “death,” “eternal salvation,” “eternal damnation”) underline that word!

2. And especially if those same verses have conditional words in them (e.g. “If” you, or “Except” ye, or “Unless” you), those are your salvation statements!

F. Tonight, let see these salvation statements that save us from that House of Hell we journeyed to and, rather, into Heaven!

II. My (or our) story relates to the “Gospel of Jesus Christ.”
